"HELLO, STANNIE," SAID MISS NESBIT

Dead Man's Chauffeur Testifies to Meetings.

Frequently Dined Together At Restaurant, Before and After Thaw Marriage.

RANSOM UNDER SURVEILLANCE.

New York, July 7.—Mrs. Harry K. Thaw's daily visit to her husband in the Tombs prison was very brief today. She remained scarcely more than ten minutes in the prison, and after leaving there went to the offices of her husband's attorneys.

That Mrs. Thaw and Stanford White were on friendly terms up to last September is the assertion made in a signed statement given out today by John Burns, who was employed by White as a chauffeur. Burns says in his statement that on two occasions, once in February and again in September, 1905, the electric cab which he drove was placed at Mrs. Thaw's disposal by White. The first of these occasions was before her marriage, the second was five months after it. In each instance, according to the chauffeur, she was taken from a restaurant to her hotel, and in neither case did White accompany her.

Burns says that the use of the electric machine was discontinued at that time, he says, because of the persistent following of the cab by men riding bicycles, on foot and also in hansom, runabouts and automobiles.

"In nine months," says Burns, "taking out the time Mr. White was in Europe and Canada, my employer never once entered the electric hansom in the company of a woman other than Mrs. White, whom he frequently took to Sherry's for dinner."

"The first time I ever saw the present Mrs. Thaw was in February, between 12 and 1 o'clock in the morning, standing with a company of men and women on the sidewalk in front of Rectors. Mr. White escorted her to the machine and put her in, saying to me: 'Take this lady home, and then come right back for me.' Several weeks later I took Mr. White to a restaurant in West Twenty-sixth street. Hardly had Mr. White reached the sidewalk, when a hansom appeared from Broadway, pulled up and Miss Nesbit jumped to the sidewalk and approached White, saying, as she held out her hands: 'Hello, Stannie, how have you been?' Mr. White shook hands. He seemed anxious to get up the stoop. They talked for a few minutes and he bade her good-night. He then hurried into the restaurant and she got into her hansom and was driven off."

"The second time Miss Nesbit rode in Mr. White's cab was in the latter part of September, after his return from Europe. I had gone to Rector's to get him from a dinner. He came out on the sidewalk with three men, besides himself and two women, one of whom was Miss Nesbit."

"Take these two women home, Johnnie," he said to me.

"I never once took Mr. White to his studio in Madison Square tower in the company of a woman and I never saw a woman enter there."

Mrs. Thaw Misunderstood.

New York, July 7.—Judge Olcott said today that Mrs. Thaw's statement of several days ago, in which she declared that she and Thaw were married in Europe and that the ceremony in Pittsburgh was performed solely upon the request of Thaw's mother, was made under a misapprehension. He said that the confusion arose through Mrs. Thaw's misunderstanding a question over the telephone, and that as a matter of fact the Thaws never were married in Europe.

The first and only marriage ceremony was the one performed at Pittsburgh.

Defense May Change Plans.

New York, July 7.—Intimations are heard that the defense may have to change their present plans in the fight for the life of Harry Thaw charged with the murder of Stanford White. Instead of trying to prove emotional insanity they will ask for the appointment of a commission to ascertain if Thaw is sane. This sudden contemplated change it is said is brought about by the complete failure of counsel for Thaw to unearth any real evidence that White sought to renew his relations with Mrs. Thaw

By the consent of the people of Paducah, The Sun has the largest circulation in the city and county. The average for June was 4072 a day.

after their marriage. Unless this evidence is found it robs the defense of any chance to plead justification or emotional insanity.

JAMES H. ECKLES.

Stated for the Presidency of the New York Life.

New York, July 7.—In insurance circles here it is stated that former Comptroller of the Currency James H. Eckles of Chicago, is slated for president of the New York Life Insurance company to succeed Alexander E. Orr.

APPREHENSIVE

IS CHIEF COLLINS ABOUT EMANCIPATION DAY.

Negroes From Western Tennessee and Kentucky Will Throng Paducah August 8.

"I feel uneasy about the eighth of August celebrations in Paducah this year because there will be more negroes in Paducah on that day than ever before. Chief of Police James Collins declared this morning."

"Louisville, Memphis, Jackson, Tenn., and dozens of other towns where they had been permitted to celebrate, have shut down on them, and Paducah will be the mecca of all emancipation celebrators this year. There will be fourteen excursions run into Paducah, this number having already been announced, and the town will be filled with darkies. If one white man is killed, or indignities imposed on any white girl or woman, it will mean trouble. I have taken time by the forelock and have petitioned the general council for more men. I can use fifty extra officers and then not feel secure."

On the success of the present year's celebrations will depend whether the negroes will be permitted to celebrate here again. If there is any trouble like that occurring in other cities, the authorities doubtless will set their seal against future demonstrations. The negroes here, however, have been acting nicely on August eighth, and few fights were reported last year.

EXPENSIVE.

Is Present Strike for Operators of Plum Run Mines.

Steuensville, O., July 7.—Growing tired of the enormous expenses of operating Plum Run Mines on the basis of a daily wage of $2.50 each for strike-breakers the United States Coal company notified the imported men they will be paid on a tonnage basis. The expense of employing guards and strike-breakers is $1,200 a day. It is claimed every ton of coal mined since April 1 cost the company about $70.

Emperor William Warns Them That They Must Not Shirk Duty to Victims of Disaster.

San Francisco, July 7.—Emperor William, of Germany, has sent out official warning to German insurance companies that they must not shirk their obligations to the sufferers by the San Francisco disaster.

OUT OF HIS HEAD.

Was Gallant Admiral Rojestvensky When He Ordered a Surrender.

Cronstadt July 7.—At the court martial trial of Admiral Rojestvensky for the surrender of the Bedovi in the battle of the Sea of Japan, the surgeons of the Bedovi testified that Rojestvensky, owing to his wounds, was partly out of his head, irresponsible and incapable of passing orders to surrender.

TAGGART EXPOSED BY THE GOVERNOR

Knew of Gambling and Could Suspend it at Will.

Hotel Safe Contained Money and Attorneys Agree to Shut Down for Few Days.

STATE AUTHORITIES TRICKED.

Winona Lake, Ind., July 7.—Gov. J. Frank Hanly, at whose command the raids on the casinos at French Lick and West Baden were made, today made the following statement:

"I promised the people of Indiana last September in a public address that the Monte Carlos of French Lick and West Baden should be closed if it could be lawfully done. I was informed through what I believed reliable sources that gambling did cease in December; that the casinos were dismantled and the unlawful paraphernalia removed. This condition, as I was advised continued until March or April this year, when both casinos were opened and gambling was resumed."

"We shall now learn whether the management of the French Lick Springs Hotel company and the West Baden Hotel company is above the law. The issue is not between the managers of these companies and me. It is between them and a far greater and more enduring power—between them and the law."

"The statement of Mr. Taggart that the French Lick Springs Hotel company had not and will not tolerate gambling on its premises, in the light of recent developments and evidence in the possession of the state, scarcely rises to the force and dignity of a jest. If his statement is true, what is the meaning of the carload of costly paraphernalia taken from the premises of the hotel company? He admits himself that gambling has existed. His counsel yesterday, in open court, agreed that it should not be permitted between yesterday and the 13th inst., when the cases are to be heard."

"Where did he find this new power to stop it. The hotel safe itself has been used for weeks nightly as a place of safe-keeping for the money earned by the casino. The truth is that Mr. Taggart as manager of the Hotel company has at no time desired anything in connection with the casino that has not been granted by its operator. On special days like that when the members of the Medical National association visited French Lick he had the power to cause the suspension of gambling in the casino during the whole time of their visit and was actually closed."

JURY SECURED.

Ready to Proceed With Famous Hargis Murder Case.

Beattyville, Ky., July 7.—A jury in the famous Hargis Callahan murder case was finally accepted just before the noon recess this afternoon. Most of the jury consists of middle aged farmers. Two jurors are not over 23 and three are aged men. The jurors are John C. Hall, Harvey Alder, William Cornelius, Joseph Durbin, George Roach, J. T. Maloney, Aaron Haller, and Elias Newman; farmers; W. J. Easter, mill worker; O. J. Burnett merchant; Flex Cole, miner, and Thomas Coomer, mill worker. The jury was not sworn, pending a call of witnesses, but was admonished and placed in charge of the elisor.

Clark Again Honored.

Oyster Bay, July 7.—The president this afternoon appointed to a place on the Interstate commerce commission, E. C. Clark, grand chief of the order of railroad conductors. Clark was a member of the anthracite coal commission, which settled the coal strike three years ago.

Meet French President.

Paris, July 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Longworth called at the president's palace today, accompanied by Ambassador and Mrs. McCormick. The French president received the American guests without the observance of the least ceremony.

Guards Held Responsible.

Steuensville, July 7.—Coroner Campbell completed the inquest in the case of Frank Kilnassana who was shot Sunday and died later. He holds mine guards, unknown to him, responsible for the death. The Glena Run Coal company today began eviction proceedings against a number of striking miners.

DEATH LIST GROWS.

Chicago, July 7.—Fifty-one lives thrown away and 3,551 celebrants maimed or injured, some of them fatally, is the record of this year's "Glorious" Fourth, as compiled by correspondents of the Tribune up to an early hour today. The loss of life almost equals that of last year, when 50 persons were killed, while every record for the number of injured was broken. Almost 1,000 more were in hospitals yesterday or swathed in bandages than on the day following the holiday last year. That the death list will continue to grow for several days is indicated by a large number of dispatches recording injuries believed to be fatal. The deadly toy pistol was responsible for a big percentage of the injuries and six of the dead. How many of the injured are infected with the germ of tetanus cannot be estimated.

NOT IMPERIALIST SAYS W. J. BRYAN

Denies General Interpretation of His Speech.

Peaceful Spread of Knowledge, Intelligence and Morality Were in His Mind.

MAC VEIGH OFFERS CRITICISM.

London, July 7.—Wm. Jennings Bryan and John Burns, M. P., breakfasted together at the Nebraska rooms in the Hotel Cecil this morning. Mr. Bryan left his guest long enough to say to your correspondent:

"They tell me that some people in America and England discover the fact that in my Independence Day speech that I have become an imperialist. I would say to such people that if they can get pleasure out of this interpretation they should make the best of it before I have a chance to declare myself on the subject of imperialism."

"Nobody can read my speech carefully and possibly find in it the slightest trace of approval of a policy of seizure and despotic control. I spoke in favor of the peaceful spread of knowledge, intelligence and morality. I declare for an altruistic attitude toward the backward races. I distinctly indicated that the consent of the governed is the only rightful source of authority. The world must have peace—the liberties of its people must be inviolate. Progress must result from intellectual and moral forces, not from physical."

Heard Mr. Bryan.

Franklin MacVeigh, of Chicago, who heard Mr. Bryan's speech on July 4, said to your correspondent: "His recognition of the white man's burden, unless it shall remain a pious abstraction, must lead him, if he ever gets the power, to concrete acts distinguishable from what one would expect from an avowed imperialist."

Bryan Has Developed.

London, July 7.—The Times is devoting much space to William Jennings Bryan. It says the Nebraskan has developed greatly by travel and study. The paper says Bryan has lived strenuously since he came to London early in the week, with hardly a minute he could call his own.

HEARST FOR BRYAN

WILL NOT BE A CANDIDATE FOR THE NOMINATION.

New York Yellow Journalist Expresses Choice of Folk for Second Place.

San Francisco, Cal., July 7.—Congressman William R. Hearst, in an interview said tonight:

"I would like to state very positively that I'll not be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1908."

He favors the nomination of Bryan, and is favorable toward Folk and opposed to the suggestion of Bailey. He suggests, a ticket headed by Bryan, Folk and Stevenson.

MAKE BIG KILLING OFF POOL ROOMS

Wire Tappers Detected in the City of Louisville.

Tom Cockrill Seeks Contract to Rid Beattyville of All Newspaper Men.

ALL THE NEWS OF KENTUCKY.

Louisville, July 7.—Wire tappers with accomplices scattered in poolrooms all over the country, including this city, worked the Windsor races yesterday afternoon, as reported in the sporting extra of the Evening Post. While $200 will probably cover the loss to the local rooms, rooms in other cities are said to have been mulcted out of from $60,000 to $100,000. The job was put through on the Windsor race track wire, the second race being the occasion. Beau Brummel was sent in as a winner at 5 to 1, with the favorite Attention, second, when the positions should have been reversed. The poolrooms and hand-books paid off accordingly. The same game was tried in the third race, but was circumvented. Two men, said to be agents, operated at the local rooms, but met with poor success. Each bet $20 on Beau Brummel at 6 to 1. The one who operated in Alvey's rooms escaped with the money after he had been pursued across Churchill Downs by patrons of the rooms whose suspicions had been excited by his actions. The correct result was sent in before the man in the other room left, and he gave up the money on demand.

Tom Cockrill Mean.

Beattyville, Ky., July 7.—Tom Cockrill has furnished the only excitement during the preliminary trial of Judge James Hargis for the alleged murder of J. B. Marcum, and today he made an attack on three of the newspaper correspondents, threatening them with violence and offering to kick the last one of the newspaper men out of town.

Girl Commits Suicide.

Booneville Ky., July 7.—Miss Nettie Warren, daughter of Mrs. Julia Warren, of this county, was found drowned in a creek near her mother's home. The body lay in shallow water, face down, and the coroner's jury found that she had taken her own life. It seems that she was in love with Henry Flannery, a young farmer of the neighborhood, and her mother had objected to his calling on her. She was but fifteen years of age, while Flannery is several years older.

Barn and Tobacco Burn.

Mayfield, July 7.—The big tobacco barn of Esq. John Morris burned down Wednesday night about 11 o'clock. The barn is located south of the city near the home of S. R. Douthett and the origin of the fire is unknown. The barn contained a large amount of tobacco and the loss will reach several thousand dollars. Usher Wright & Davis, the insurance firm, had $6,000 on the tobacco and $1,500 on the building.

Dr. James for Congress.

Louisville, Ky., July 7.—Dr. A. D. James, of Penrod, Muhlenburg county, former United States marshal for the western district of Kentucky will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress from the Third district. Dr. James has formerly declared himself in the race. July 16 at Bowling Green the convention will be held. Dr. James' opponents are James Oliver, of Scottville, Allen county, and George Baker of Central City.

To Exonerate Dreyfus.

Paris, July 7.—Upon unquestionable authority it may be stated that Captain Dreyfus will receive full reparation at the conclusion of the present inquiry before the court of cassation. This authority declares that the Dreyfus judgment of the Rennes court-martial will be annulled without a new trial for the accused man, and that he will be rehabilitated in the service as chief of a squadron. He will be placed in the same order of promotion as before his trial. Dreyfus will also be proposed for the cross of the Legion of Honor.

The Bialystok.

St. Petersburg, July 7.—The Duma today began a discussion of the report of the Bialystok massacres. None of the ministers were present during the debate. Speakers severely criticized the government.

Partly cloudy with probably occasional showers tonight or Sunday. The highest temperature reached yesterday was 88 and the lowest reached this morning was 68.

He is concerned especially with the drawing of indictments, which will be prepared in advance. He is consulting with United States District Attorney Sullivan. Pagin will visit other cities in which the fight is to be waged against the oil trust.

RUSSIA BANKRUPT

IF ALLEGED ADMISSIONS OF MINISTER ARE TRUE.

Estimates Padded for Liquidation of War Expenses—Members of Duma Glad.

St. Petersburg, July 7.—While the action of the lower house of parliament in appropriating $7,500,000 to be dispensed by the administration for famine relief was the first recognition of the cabinet by parliament its importance was far overshadowed by the alleged admission of Minister of Finance Kokovsov about the padding of estimates for the liquidation of war expenses in order to be able to extract a larger loan from the foreign markets.

These developments placed Russian financial methods on a par with those of mushroom South American republics and would undermine the confidence of foreign financiers in the old guard now managing Russian finances and immediately complicate future credit operations.

All this, naturally, is fish for the net of the Constitutional Democrats who see in the revelation the brightest prospect for forcing the transfer of administrative power to a responsible cabinet.

Cruiser's Crew Rebels.

Vigo, Spain, July 7.—About 200 members of the Russian cruiser Tock at anchor in this harbor rebelled today. A number dressed in citizens' clothing left the cruiser, while others were kept aboard by officers armed with revolvers. Members of the crew previously tried to rebel while the Tock was at Suez.

Before leaving Sagamore Hill Mr. Taft showed the president a draft of the speech he is to make at Greensboro, N. C., Monday night.

TAX RECEIPT

MUST ACCOMPANY APPLICATION FOR SALOON LICENSE.

General Council May Take Steps to Compel Collection of Ad Valorem Taxes.

Business concerns, which require a license to do business in Paducah, will soon be taken out of the tax-dodging column, if a resolution to be introduced in the general council passes. The resolution will require a presentation of the receipt for the proprietor's ad valorem taxes with his application for a license to do business.

This is aimed primarily at certain saloon keepers, who, it is said, are in arrears about $800 in city taxes. They can not do business without a license and until they pay their taxes this will be refused.

Mr. Julius Tick, of the Kentucky Iron and Steel company, will leave today for St. Louis and Chicago on business.

NATIONAL BANKS ON THE INCREASE

Report of Number Since New Law Went Into Effect.

Government Architects Busy With Omnibus Building Plans—Laurel Found.

TOOK SHELTER FROM STORM.

Washington, July 7.—Official figures just given out by Controller of the Currency Ridgely show that Kentucky's record in the matter of organization of national banks during the six fiscal years ending June 30 last, was good. The total number organized during that period in the Bluegrass was sixty, with a combined capitalization of $4,170,000. Of this number forty-one had capital less than $50,000 each, and the other nineteen each had a capital of more than that amount. The total capitalization of the smaller banks is $1,050,000, and that of the larger financial institutions is $3,123,000.

Yankee Soldiers "Smartest."

Washington, July 7.—The military appearance of the American soldier was a surprise to George V. Winter, who came from London on invitation of the war department to design certain improvements in the uniforms of the service which would bring them in line with the acknowledged superior fit and make-up of the British uniforms. "The American soldier has the best build and bearing in the world," declared Mr. Winter, on the eve of his departure for New York. "I thought Tommy Atkins was the best in line so I was surprised at what I have seen here. While the American soldier is not so beefy as the Britisher, he is 'smarter' and better set up. He is the best looking soldier in the world, superior to the fighting men of Germany, France or England. The only improvement in the uniforms is to give him a better fit, giving full effect to his fine qualities."

Kentucky's Rural Routes.

A statement issued by the post-office department today shows the number of rural free delivery routes in the state of Kentucky on July 1 to have been 1,564, with 93 petitions pending.

3,020 Banks Organized.

Washington, July 7.—Interesting statistics regarding the growth of the national banking system since 1900, when the law went into effect, permitting the organization of banks with a capital of only $25,000, is contained in a report from the comptroller's office. Under the law there have been organized 3,020 banks with a total capitalization of almost $174,000,000.

Laurel Is Found.

Washington, July 7.—The missing light house tender Laurel is located. The Laurel anchored under Lobos light June 25 to July 2, waiting less wind. She sailed for Guantanamo July 6. Lobos light is in the old Bahama channel north of Cuba.

Advertisements are being sent out at the rate of twenty to twenty-five a day asking for bids for public buildings to be erected.

Naval Constructor Joseph Woodward Dies At Night.

Washington, July 7.—The navy department today received a dispatch from Admiral Brownson, aboard the Overland train at Bank, Canada, bound for Puget Sound, telling of the sudden death last night on the train of Naval Constructor Joseph Woodward of the United States navy. He was on his way to the Pacific coast to attend the trial trip of the new battleship Nebraska.

George Ames, the St. Louisan who was banished from the reservation at the beginning of the battle because of the over-supply of Indians in the tribe of Paducah, went on the war path at Wallace park yesterday. He fought hard but the smoke of battle soon blinded the Pale Face's eyes, and he began to see things. First he fooled a punt in the eighth inning and permitted a runner to get on third. The next exhibition of aerial flight was witnessed when Ames turned the ball loose at second to force a runner. The ball went to center field fence and two runners scored. Sweat and grime poured from the Pale Faces' brow, but still he stuck it out. Disgust was written on his comrades' faces, but his nerve was still there. Once again did he try for a punt and this time threw wild to first. Two more runs scored.

Ames tried to quit, but the battle was hopelessly lost for the Belittes and George was made to remain at the principal point. He settled down and the Indians were finally retired.

This is the story of the wind up of one of the greatest farces ever witnessed on the local ball field. The first part of the game was pretty fast and for a time the Indians looked as though they would be given a second dose of defeat. By hard work the score was tied in the sixth inning, and when three more were forced across the plate in the seventh, the Belittes began to lose heart. Five more tallied in the eighth and even Lushaw, the catcher with the most ginger of any backstop in the league, possibly excepting Mattison, was hushed.

The story can best be told in the summary.

Hostlers Beat Cairo.
Cairo, Ill., July 7.—The Hostlers "mopped" up with the Tadpoles today, forcing a shut-out. Errors and a few bad decisions of Umpire Wilkinson lost the game for Cairo.
The score: R H E
Cairo 1 11 5
Mattoon 3 7 2
Batteries—Way and Searles; Dowell and Johnson.

Hoosiers Shut Out.
Danville, Ill., July 7.—The locals shut out the Hoosiers yesterday in a closely played game. Fast fielding was the feature work of the locals.
The score: R H E
Danville 2 5 1
Vincennes 0 6 2
Batteries—Fleming and Quiesser; Ferrell and Mattison.

Groh Injured.
Groh, Paducah's fast short stop, was injured yesterday by Tommy Copeland, who ran into him while Groh was receiving a throw from Wright. Berte had bunted to advance Copeland to second and Wright made quick work of the bunt. He threw straight but Copeland ran into the fielder and the little short stop's shoulder was badly jammed and will lay him out of the game for some time.

Miller and Downing for Paducah; Akers and Lutshaw for Jacksonville, are the batteries for today.

Dick Brahe will pitch the initial game Sunday against Danville.

Pat Downing's catching has been the feature of all at home games so far. Pat displays a great deal of head work. His work has saved the day more than once for the Indians.

Wetzel and Downing did some good hitting yesterday, each securing two bingles. Others were robbed of hits by sensational fielding.

Lutshaw hit out two doubles yesterday and Fox hit a triple. Hagel also got a double, leaving but one base hit for the Belittes.

Paducah is to get Quigley, Evansville's fast short stop. He made an impression while here in the ante-season games.
Grover Land was a star in the Toledo aggregation of American Association pennant aspirants the Fourth. He played third base in one game and got three hits. In the second game he played center field and got two hits. One of Land's plays, a throw from center to home, was the feature of the day. Land is popular in Toledo and a comer in the big leagues.

"It seemed that we were doing well when we took two out of three from Danville, but when we went to Cairo and beat them three straight, and two of those in one day, that blow was more than enough to kill father. Five out of six games away from home is certainly going some, and it is a cinch we will get back with half of the twelve, unless all of the players fall down and break a leg."—Jacksonville Courier.

A Remarkable Game.
The Louisville Post has this to say about a remarkable game played there: "Four thousand people saw the Glenwood team, of New Albany, defeat the strong Calumet club by a score of 12 to 0 yesterday. Devitt, Glenwood's crack pitcher, twirled one of the most remarkable games on record. The phenomenal youngster struck out thirteen batsmen and ran twenty-seven men in connection."

This is the first game in the history of the great national sport where 27 men faced the pitcher and were retired in one, two three order in nine innings' play."

The Week In Society.

A FLORAL FOURTH OF JULY.

The trumpet flower above the door. On all its trumpets blew. A loud and stirring blast that woke the daisies in the dew. The ragged sailors fell in line along the garden walk. And every rocket stood erect and ready on its stalk.

The blue bells and the morning stars Applaud. Appeared a perfect square. The poppies formed in flaming bars Between the lilies fair.

And when the colors of the flag I can then thus display, Behold! I know it was the dawn Of Independence Day.

—Minnie Irving in July Lippincott.

The week in society has been replete with informal affairs, the Parks-Bleecker wedding being the only event. This wedding, which has been the interest feature of Nashville and Paducah and several eastern cities took place Tuesday evening in Nashville. It was a brilliant home wedding, and was attended by several Paducah society people.

Picnics, boating parties, hay rides and many informal parlor affairs made it a delightfully interesting summer week socially. A review of the social calendar by days is given.

Parks-Bleecker.

Nashville society rarely has seen a more beautiful home wedding than that of Miss Anna Webb Parks to Mr. John Stearnes Bleecker. The decorations were in perfect good taste and the ceremony which made them man and wife was finished and beautiful. The Paducah people who attended the wedding were: Miss Anna Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Friedman, Mrs. Armour Gardner, Mrs. Robert Becker Phillips, Mr. Will Webb, Mr. W. I. Sturtevant and Mr. L. A. Bowers. The couple will reside on North Fifth street when they return from an extended eastern trip.

League Social.

At the home of Mrs. F. M. McGlathery, on North Seventh street, Monday evening, the Epworth League of the Broadway Methodist church gave a social to the young people of the other denominations were invited. Progressive conversation and a character guessing contest made it a pleasant evening. Fruit punch was served, a punch bowl improvised from a water-melon being a unique feature.

All-Day Picnic.

An all-day picnic was arranged Wednesday, across the river for the visitors of Mrs. Lem Ogilvie, Miss Allie Cabell, and Miss Mary Scott. Miss Amanda Long, of Russellville, Ky., is the visitor of Mrs. Lem Ogilvie, Miss Marianna Surg, of Henderson, Ky., is visiting Miss Allie Cabell and Miss Eunice De Bard, of McMinnville, Tenn., and Miss Hilda Hunt, of Baltimore, Md., are the guests of Miss Mary Scott. It was a much enjoyed outing.

Porch Party.

Miss Gladys Coburn entertained a number of her friends with a porch party Wednesday evening. The porch was decorated with flags to carry out the spirit of the day and fire-works enlivened the evening's entertainment. Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served in the evening.

Sunday School Picnic.

The classes of Mrs. Aubrey Smith, Misses Adah and Lou Smith, and Mrs. W. L. Young, of the Broadway Methodist church, were entertained by their teachers with a picnic supper at Wallace park, the party going out at 5 o'clock and spending several delightful hours in the cool park.

Cairo Party.

Friday Miss Lula Reed and Miss Margery Crumbaugh entertained the Sans Souci club and the visiting girls in the city with a trip to Cairo on the good steamer Dick Fowler. It was a most pleasant way to entertain the club in the summer months and has been enjoyed by this club before.

Birthday Party.

Master Lem Ogilvie gave a delightful birthday party last Saturday evening. The lawn was decorated with Japanese lanterns and settees were arranged artistically about the lawn. Many of his friends enjoyed the evening's frolic and the delicious refreshments served.

Week-end Informal House Party.

Miss Frances Wallace had several of the city girls to spend Friday night at her country home. The young men came out in the evening and dancing was enjoyed among the other various means of pleasure of a roomy country home affords.

Parlor Dance.

In compliment to Mr. Harold Amos of Washington, D. C., the guest of Mr. Charles Rieck, Miss Gene Morris entertained a number of her friends with a parlor dance at her home on Madison street. In the evening summer refreshments were served.

IN THE LOBBY

"There's a most beautiful garden in the city," ironically remarked a gentleman as he passed a vacant lot on Sixth street all covered with rubbish dock and rag weeds. It was told by a prominent citizen yesterday. The P. C. then suggested that the garden ought to receive the booby prize in the Sun contest. "Such passing remarks show two things," he said in conclusion. "People of Paducah are observing such conditions, and The Sun contest is having the effect of calling their attention to the bad places."

They were gazing indignantly at a poor decrepit horse whose stiffened legs scarcely could move, as it painfully drew a wagon load of rubbish right along Broadway. "That's a shame," one of them exclaimed, voicing the indignation of the party. "The humane officer ought to take up that horse." Then they passed on satisfied that they had done their duty. That is a pleasant idea—shifting the burden of the responsibility onto some official, instead of calling his attention to it. If that party should see somebody drowning in the river, one of them probably would offer up a prayer for the drowning man, and then all would go home, having shifted the responsibility on to the supreme authority. Going back to the original episode these people should have notified the humane officer, Mr. Tom Sanders, by telephone, No. 5427.

A justice of the peace in Massac county, Ill., who is something of a sport himself, enjoyed a good joke on Col. Ben Welle, sportsman and automobile enthusiast, recently. Col. Welle likes to hunt. He fires of clay pigeon shoots and sometimes breaks away from the humdrum of city life and goes to the "sticks" for some real sport. He had his gun in Massac county, Ill., where hunting squirrels is against the law. The magistrate spotted him and clapping his hand on the Paducahan's shoulder marched him to Metropolis. "I had Col. Welle badly frightened," the magistrate declared to a party of fishermen at the lakes. "He declared he just had the gun for company and did not intend to kill the poor little squirrels. When we got to Metropolis where I was going on business, I secured a friend of mine whom I knew to be fond of hunting and sent him out with Col. Welle. The expression of relief and appreciation of the joke was so clearly evident that even those who did not understand had to laugh."

O. K.

In a Massachusetts cemetery there is a monument erected to a large family of O'Kelleys. Now the O'Kelleys were too many for the monument and toward the last there was not room enough for the surnames. So this is the way the later names were cut in: William O. K., John O. K., Mary O. K.—Lippincott's.

"How does your father seem to regard my coming here?" anxiously asked Adolphus of little Bobby while Miss Mand was upstairs getting ready to present herself.

"He don't care nothin' about it," replied Bobby, carelessly.

"So he has no objection, eh? But what did he say, my little man?"

"He said if Maud had a mind to make a fool of herself, why, let her."

—Tit-Bits.

"Ah, yes!" said Senator Smugg, as he interlaced his claws in a self-satisfied way in front of his corporeity. "I got my start in life by clerking in a humble grocery store at a salary of three dollars a week, and managed to save money on that."

"But," replied the astute reporter, "that, of course, was before cash registers were invented."—Puck.

The season for turtle eggs has arrived in St. Augustine, and already several large nests have been gathered from near-by beaches. During the moonlight nights of May and June each year scores of nests are found on the north and south beach, and the practice has already begun this year.

"Can't I induce you to go to church?" asked the earnest evangelist.

"Oh, not fur mine, doc," replied the hobo.

"Perhaps you have some feeling against the church that may be—"

"No, I ain't got no grudge agin it; mine wuz a home weddin'."

LOUIS JAMES HAS FAITH IN PUBLIC

Shakespeare Properly Produced is Popular.

Tells Why and Cites the Indications That Scholarly Efforts Will Be Rewarded.

Louis James with that firm conviction that has characterized all his efforts for the upholding of the drama, says with emphatic conviction that at no time in the history of the drama has the outlook for the future been more hopeful for the fulfillment of the expectations of those who have labored for a revival of Shakespearean interest than at this very time.

"In support of this assertion let me say," says Mr. James: "Last season I presented four classic plays, each by a different author, 'Richelieu,' by Bulwer Lytton; 'Virgilius,' by Sheridan Knowles; 'Ingotmar,' by Marie Lovell, and 'The Merchant of Venice,' by Shakespeare. Of the four plays probably the latter was the least advertised, the most modestly presented with scenery, costumes, etc., and yet it was the most popular and most liberally patronized of the four, a fact that speaks volumes in support of the anticipations we hold that Shakespeare is on the ascendancy."

"Again, the study of Shakespeare is now established in every school, public or secular, thus the younger generation is daily getting imbued with a love for the immortal bard that is bound to bear good fruit in the future."

"Good actors are plentiful, but good plays scarce. Little reason therefore to make an analysis of the reason why the public is coming back again to their first love, Shakespeare."

"I also note in looking over the statistics of the number of visitors who visited the home of Shakespeare at Stratford-on-Avon last year the great increase over previous years; an indication that the public are getting more and more interested not only in the works, but in the life and history of the greatest dramatist that the world has ever known."

"Shakespeare, when properly presented, is today in greater demand than at any time in the last half century. I will say, however, that the demand for comedy is greater than for tragedy."

"Johnson's definition of the word theatre is accepted today in its truest literal sense, 'a place of amusement,' and nothing more or less. Don't think I am decrying the mission of the stage by saying so. Oh, dear no! Far from it. I am merely speaking from practical experience of one who has been an actor for forty-two years, who has noted the change of things theatrical both from an artistic as well as a commercial standpoint. Give the public the better things in the drama and you will find them today as responsive as they were at the time that history says was 'The golden era of the stage.'"

"Do you believe in adhering to the traditional 'business' of the classics?" was asked Mr. James. "Yes, I do," was the reply, "but only so far as the traditional business is good." When a modern conception is better than that presented by former exponents of the classics, I believe by all means in accepting the modern and abandoning the traditional. For instance, it is not necessary in 'Macbeth' to have Banquo appear with a bloody gash upon his throat to convey to the audience the fact that he was murdered. In fact, I believe in the obliterating altogether of the material appearance of an apparition, when an actor can by suggestion succeed in attaining the same results, and here let me say is where the true actor comes in evidence, as the greatest achievement in art is to conceal art. I believe that reflecting a reality is a greater art than either reproducing or exaggerating it. I do not believe in adding to the text of Shakespeare, but I do believe in eliminating all that is irrelevant to the action of a play or the modern methods of what I may term the natural solution of a problem—for dialogue acceptable to the conditions of 200 years ago would appear salacious today."

"I am not in sympathy with an over-elaboration of scenic investiture or mechanical accessories to any play, because this always detracts from the proper rendition of the text."

"BETTER THAN SPANKING." Spanking does not cure children of bed wetting. If it did there would be few children that would do it. There is a constitutional cause for this. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 408, Notre Dame, Ind., will send her home treatment to any mother. She asks no money. Write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child. The chances are it can't help it.

"Follow duty and conscience without regard to the present advantage."BRYAN AND IMPERIALISM.
William Jennings Bryan says that he is not an "imperialist" which is the term applied to those who favor
the continuance of our colonial policy.
Certainly not. Neither is he for the single gold standard—but he knows the bone yard when he sees it. In his Fourth of July speech in London on the "White Man's Burden," he took occasion to say:"No one can travel among the dark-skinned races of the Orient without feeling that the white man occupies an especially favored position among the children of men, and the recognition of this fact is accompanied by the conviction that there is a duty in-separably connected with the advantages enjoyed. There is a white man's burden—a burden which the white man should not shirk even if he could, a burden which he could not shirk even if he would. That no one liveth unto him self or dieth unto himself has a national as well as an individual application. Our destinies are so interwoven that each exerts an influence directly or indirectly upon all others."
He further said:"But the advanced nations can not content themselves with the conferring of incidental benefits.
If they would justify their leadership they must put forth conscious and constant effort for the promotion of the welfare of the nations which lag behind. Incidental benefits may follow even though the real purpose of a nation is a wholly selfish one, for as the sale of Joseph into Egypt resulted in blessings to his family and to the land of the Pharaohs, so captives taken in war have sometimes spread civilization, and blacks carried away into slavery have been improved by contact with the whites. But nations cannot afford to do evil in the hope that Providence will trans-mute the evil into good and bring blessings out of sin. Nations, if they would be great in the better sense of the term, must intend benefit as well as confer it,
they must plan advantage, and not leave the results to chance."That is making a noise like a man turning around, but if in future campaigns somebody draws the "deadly parallel" on him, Mr. Bryan will be brought to a full realization of the meaning of the expression: "Oh, that mine enemy would write a book."To the accusation that he is an imperialist Mr. Bryan says regarding his speech:"Nobody can find in it the slightest trace of approval of a policy of seizure
and despotic control."That is juggling with a phrase.
Nobody in America favors "a policy of seizure and despotic control." Thevery men whom Mr. Bryan more violently than any other speaker stigmatized as "imperialists," advocated only the doctrine Mr. Bryan has adopted and enunciated as his own. United States never has practiced seizure, except in the acquisition of some of the territory, comprised in the present states. What colonies we now possess fell into our hands by sheer force of circumstances, and it would not be consonant with Mr. Bryan's newly embraced faith to leave them to their fate.Mr. Bryan says he spoke only of the "peaceful spread of knowledge, intelligence and morality," but these are sometimes distributed in the manner he speaks of as "incidental." In his speech he advocates an aggressive assumption of the "White Man's Burden." In his Fourth of July oration more logically than in his subsequent explanation Mr. Bryan leaves the manner of taking up this burden to circumstances; for after all, the policy adopted is only the means to the end;
and whether the burden is being carried as England does, willy-nilly, or the way the United States does, with a wry grimace, it is the "White man's Burden," as Mr. Bryan has come to see it, more or less conscientiously assumed.The trouble with Mr. Bryan is that he sees visions of the "deadly parallel" being drawn on him in the approaching campaign. But he will have enough explaining to do then, and the less he does now, the less he will have to do by and by.The Democratic press of the country, foreseeing just such embarrassments in the way of the "boy orator of the Platte," who never kept an idea in pickle, referred to his growth and development with ripened opportunity for observation, and it was hoped this blanket excuse would be sufficient to cover all palpable inconsistencies during his transition. Apparently, Mr. Bryan is not in touch with a press clipping bureau.It is not the policy of The Sun to interfere in the concerns of individuals or organizations, in which the public generally is not directly interested, nor to advise the members of such organization in regard to the regulation of its internal affairs. For this reason The Sun had no comment to offer when it was announced that the Central Labor Union had referred to the affiliated organizations the question of taking an active part in politics. The Sun believed then and believes now that the representative members of the trades unions have sufficient judgment to do what is best for their own interest without the assistance of outsiders. But the remarkably cordial interest certain elements outside the organization have taken in the idea lead to the suspicion that, unless the labor leaders are cautious, the organization will be taken advantage of and used to further some projects, to the advantage of neither organized labor nor the citizens of Paducah.The Louisville Times takes long chances on libel suits. In an ungallant account of a young society woman, who took refuge in the Times office when her shoe came off during a storm, the paper states that she caused "a sensation among the young men of the counting room, who are unused to anything more exciting than figures." A chalk plate of the young woman justifies the assertion that the Times counting room is full of experts in figures.That fellow, who extended the invitation to the president of the United States to preside as toastmaster at a banquet given by the opposite political party in honor of an avowed candidate of that party for the presidency two years hence, should be given a fine diplomatic berth at once. It's a safe gamble he doesn't line up with the trusts. Whatever may be the faults of great organizations of capital, they demand brains.Several boys ascended Bald mountain near Deadwood to celebrate the Fourth. The party became scattered by reason of a premature explosion of dynamite—so scattered and confused, in fact, that their relatives held a joint funeral service, because they couldn't distinguish the fragments.The Owensboro Inquirer editorially plainly states that Ollie James ran away to England to escape the importunities of the anti-Beckhamites, who wish him to be their candidate for governor. He's not game. Mayor Yeiser never budged.Duke of Abruuzzi, who ascended Mount Ruvenzori, 18,000 feet high, at Uganda, Central Africa, has attained the summit of his ambition.Glad to welcome you back, Sister Cairo. It's no fun fighting anybody else.

Thursday and Friday were notable on the river from the fact that the river fell at every point on those days except two, where the river was on a stand. There will be no rise until another rain. The gauge registered a stage of 8.4 this morning, a fall of 0.5 in the last 24 hours. This week has been unparalleled for business on the river at this point. All the Tennessee river boats have brought barges in tow to handle the freight, and the Lee and Fowler lines have not maintained schedules because of heavy business. Labor troubles have been twice felt at such a busy season. In Nashville and Paducah, the demand for labor for street improvements has drained the river of labor, and the usual summer laziness of the roustabouts has aggravated the scarcity. Passenger business assumed larger proportions than any week this year.

The Georgia Lee from Cincinnati will arrive late this afternoon on the way to Memphis.

The John Hopkins arrived this morning from Evansville and left at 11 o'clock for the same point. No Evansville packet tomorrow.

Sunday night the Dunbar will arrive from Nashville and lie over until Monday noon when it starts for Clarksville.

Sunday at noon the Joe Fowler will arrive from Evansville and lie over until Monday at 11 o'clock before leaving on the return trip.

The City of Saltillo will come out of the Tennessee river Sunday night or Monday, on the return trip to St. Louis. Telephone the wharf for the exact time.

The Savannah will leave St. Louis this evening and arrive here Sunday night, on the in trip to the Tennessee river.

The Dick Fowler got away on time this morning for Cairo and way points, and will be due to return to-night at 8 o'clock.

Gradually but surely conditions on the rivers are changing. And the river man with a memory no longer than ten years ago can recall a different order of things than now obtains. A few years back the big side wheel boats were common on the rivers but today they are becoming extinct along with the buffaloes, the Indians, and other western features. River traffic has contracted almost beyond the comprehension of the generation of today. However, a large part of the expansion of the river business years ago was not altogether normal and today it is on a much firmer basis, if smaller. Side-wheel boats cost as high as $100,000 apiece, when river traffic was in its flower. The Ohio river was full of them, though not always so expensive. There are still some in the upper Ohio river trade and on the Mississippi river.

Official Forecasts.

The Ohio from Evansville to Cairo and the Mississippi from Chester to Cairo will continue falling at most points during the next two or three days.

The Tennessee from Florence to the mouth will continue falling. The stage at Florence will fall below the 2-foot mark within the next 24 or 36 hours.

ENGINEER NEEDS
NO CERTIFICATEOpinion of One Fire and Police
Commissioner.Only River Men Are Licensed and No
Qualification Save Competency Named.

EQUIPMENT IS NOT COMPLETE.

The board of fire and police commissioners will meet Monday night with a great deal of business to transact. The bond company on patrolmen bonds will ask to be allowed to withdraw, and the policemen will then be without bond unless they ask individuals to become surety. It is stated that they will not favor this, because they do not care to subject friends to the expense because of attorneys' fees in suits brought against them for actions in the discharge of their duty. It may be possible to secure another bonding company to become surety but the policemen have taken no steps to substitute a bond so far, and will not until the commissioners have permitted the company to withdraw.

The election of an "engineer of the fire department" will not be held, due to the fact that the commissioners have not equipped the fire engine for service and the ordinance is yet unsigned. Two horses are needed. More than one hundred have been inspected and found unsuitable. Many fine horses have been brought here from Illinois and some from Tennessee, but they did not come up to requirements.

A driver is to be elected. There are about 50 applicants for the position.
As to the engineer, the board seems divided. It is the sense of the general council that a "competent" man must be employed. This is taken to mean a licensed engineer. There is but one class, marine engineers, required to stand an examination for license.

"I do not believe that the law can be construed to mean that a licensed man must have this position," a member of the board declared this morning. "I do not think that any marine engineer who can secure work on the river will take the position and keep it at the salary fixed.
I believe that we can find plenty of engineers who are competent, but who are not licensed. It is a matter of conjecture just how the board will vote in this matter. I, for one, will favor getting a competent man, but do not believe he necessarily must be licensed."

MAYOR IN CONTEMPT.

Will Have to Pay $1 000 Fine or Go to Jail.

Topeka, Kan., July 7.—The state supreme court handed down a decision holding Mayor W. W. Rose of Kansas City, Kan., in contempt for having assumed the office of mayor after the court had ousted him for the non-enforcement of the prohibition law and the law against gambling. In the order today Mayor Rose is ordered to relinquish the office and is fined $1, 000 for contempt.

Hot Days Beneficial.

It is strange we never stop to realize that the hot days are good for us.
They are tho', just as they are good for crops. Nature sends the hot days to give us a good "sweating"—if the use of the vulgar word is permissible for in this way it eliminates some of the poisons from our systems. If we would get out of doors, instead of sitting in the shady nooks,
and take two or three hours in the open air with the "boiling sun" boiling us right we would feel lots better, and be lots better.

This is a correct theory, and is the theory that prompted the invention of the hot-air treatments I am giving with such success in my practice.
When used in connection with Osteopathy it is a specific for the ailments that give us Paducahans the most trouble malaria, chills and fever and biliousness, and I can in just a few minutes show anyone suffering of these ailments why they yield so readily to the treatment. I can refer you to people you know who will attest to my statements.

If you feel drowsy, and tired; feel like you had a taut band around your head which was being drawn closer all the time; if you are suffering of indigestion of any form, a course of Osteopathic and dry hot-air treatments will bring a quick cure, and do so without the aid of anything but aids to Nature.

My office hours are from 9 to 12
and from 2 to 6, Dr. G. B. Froge, 518 Broadway, Phone 1407.

FIGHT FIRE

SWITCH ENGINES ARE EQUIPPED WITH APPARATUS.Eight of Them Will Be Made Ready for Emergency in the Paducah Yards.

The Illinois Central Railroad company has adopted an improvement on switch engines, which will make them serve a dual purpose. Switch engines will not only serve as the motive power in making up trains, but will be portable fire departments.

This morning Master Mechanic R.
J. Turnbull received blue prints of the improvement with authority to make them at once. Every switch engine in the Paducah yards is to be supplied with fifty feet of strong fire hose with up-to-date nozzle. A box is to be installed on the side of the tank for storing the hose, and a "T" connection is to be made with the injector pipe. By the turning of a valve water can be thrown through the hose at a high pressure—the same pressure used in forcing it into the boiler—and many fires occurring in the yards and on property located along the right of way, can be successfully fought by these appliances.

It is not known if this improvement is general, but the presumption is that it is. The Illinois Central has lost a great deal through yard fires, and experience has taught that this expense of installing the hose and connections will be an economical move in the long run. Eight engines here are to be fitted out at once.

ROAD CONTRACTS LET THIS MORNING

Six and One-Half Miles Will Be Improved.

Examination of Applicants for State College Scholarships Will Be Held.

STATE NORMAL EXAMINATION.

Bert Johnson, supervisor of county roads, this morning opened bids for graveling three roads, aggregating a total of six and one-half miles. There were five bidders on the job, and some little confusion resulted. Some wanted one road and others wanted another while low bidders on one road would not take it singly but desired to get others to make the contract worth working.

The roads to be gravelled are the Said road Raper Mill road and Bryant Ford road. The former is four; the second one, and latter one and a half miles long.

The bids, based on the lineal foot, follow:

George Powers, Said road, 16 2-3 cents; Raper Mill, 9 cents; Bryant Ford 7 cents.

O. W. Rawlinson Said road, 15 cents; Raper, Mill, 9 cents.

S. B. Gholson, Said road, 15 cents; Raper Mill, 8 cents; Bryant Ford, 8 1-2 cents.

W. L. Yancey, Bryant Ford road, 9 1-2 cents; Said, 16 2-3; Raper Mill, 9 1-2 cents.

H. C. Bean, Bryant Ford and Said roads combined $425 per mile or 7 cents per lineal foot.

The bids were accepted by Supervisor Johnson as follows:

Said road, four miles, to Bean for 8 cents, $1,689.60

Raper Mill road one mile, to Gholson, 422.40

Bryant Ford road, one and a half miles, to Powers, 553.90

Total $2,645.90

Supervisor Johnson will this afternoon meet the contractors and attempt to close the contracts. Powers wanted the Said road in addition to the Bryant Ford road but would not take it at the bid of Bean. This may cause a complication and cause the bids to be advertised again or the county to take the work in hand.

Scholarship Examination.

Prof. J. M. Billington, county school superintendent, is preparing to hold examinations for a state college scholarship, which is given one successful applicant from each county annually.

Prof. M. V. Miller is the examiner and Superintendent Billington is awaiting his pleasure. The date probably will be arranged for July 21. Applicants will be examined in Paducah at the county superintendent's office. So far only one has announced. He is Samuel Crossland, Jr., of Mayfield, who attended the Maxon Mills school. Young Crossland resided in this county with an aunt in order to secure the advantage of McCracken county schools, which are conceded to be the best in this end of the state. (The highest percentage wins the scholarship.)

For Normal Scholarship.

A date will this month be fixed for holding an examination for teachers' to enter the normal department of the state college. Four teachers from each county, who make the highest grades, are given a course through the normal department gratis.

DEGENERATING.

Because Our Life Is Affecting Our Nerves, Says Pedagogist.

Chicago, July 7.—America's climate regarded by scientists as the prime factor in the country's marvelous growth from colonial days, may be the cause of its degeneracy, according to Prof. John Mason, Tyler, of Amherst college, one of the leading pedagogists of the world.

"Every decade," he explained to students at the University of Chicago yesterday, opening a series of lectures, "our climate has been drawing the strings on our nervous system tighter and tighter, until now they are ready to snap. We are changing from a life in the open—a life of manual labor—to a life in the use of the brain."

"Americans 100 years ago lived on pork and doughnuts to a great extent. Before going to bed they were not satisfied unless they ate a large piece of mince pie. We say we can't stand anything stronger than tea and crackers."

Children a century ago went to school on the average of 12 weeks a year. Forty weeks were spent on the farm, in open life. Ten months are spent by the children today in school."

Mr. Isaac Reed went to Jackson, Tenn., this morning.

BANK CLEARINGS STILL INCREASE

Counter Business Keeps Up With Trade.

Clearance Sales Stimulate Activity on Broadway, While Other Lines Are Busy.

THE FACTORIES AND JOBBERS.

Bank clearings $848,276
Same week last year 763,443
Increase 84,833

Counter business at the banks was active this week, and the increase in clearings reflects it. General trade conditions are satisfactory and local concerns are doing all the business they anticipated for the season. Crop indications continue good, and the future promises are of continued expansion of trade, especially in the south.

Local retailers have put on their mid-summer clearance sales which have given an impetus to what has been a very satisfactory business season.

Manufacturers report good bookings of orders and encouraging promises for the future.

Real estate is fairly active for the season, and building trades are all fully employed.

TUBERCULAR CATTLE.

Should Not Be Consumed If Well Nourished.

Chicago, July 7.—The report of the joint commission of the Chicago Commercial association and the Illinois Manufacturers' association, appointed to investigate the packing industries of Chicago, together with the report of the experts who accompanied them, was made public today.

The committee says: "As a result of this investigation, we, ourselves have no hesitancy in stating that the meat products at the yards are wholesome and proper food."

"We find that the companies have been improving the conditions and products from year to year, that improvements are constantly being made and will continue to be made and we believe that the conditions and surroundings at the plants carefully protect the quality of the product."

"In view of the absence of any possible danger to health arising from the use of the meat of cattle affected with only localized tuberculosis, it would, in our opinion be extravagant, and, indeed absurd to condemn the carcasses of such cattle provided the animals are well nourished and otherwise in good condition."

AH BAH! AND HA! HA!

Count Boni and Deputy Regnier Come to Explicatives.

Paris, July 7.—Count Boni de Castellane is howling for gore. The particular object of his wrath is Deputy Regnier, who headed the proceedings that led to Boni being unseated and fired from the chamber of deputies. After the incident the count met Regnier and said:

"Ah bah! I do not wish to make a scene here so please consider your face slapped."

Regnier gave vent to a merry "ha ha" and passed along.

This angered Count Boni, who later left his card on Regnier's desk. When the latter found the card he wrote to the count, saying:

"Consider the duel as having been fought and yourself dead."

"MRS. WARREN'S PROFESSION"

New York, July 7.—The production of George Bernard Shaw's play, "Mrs. Warren's Profession," in this city during the last theatrical season was not a violation of the penal code, according to a decision handed down by the justices of the court of special sessions. CUB REPORTER

Sent to Write Up a Fire Hands the City Editor the Following.

The angels of night had spread their ebony wings over the vast city, and a stillness as deep and profound as that which envelops the starlit, trackless prairie was brooding over the red-tiled cottages of Kimberley Crescent, wherein the weary workers, worn out by their Herculean labors, were snatching an all too brief interval of repose on the lotus-scented breast of Morpheus, when from out the eerie void of silence there rang forth, with paralyzing suddenness, a stentorian shout of "Fire!"

No sooner had the dread alarm ceased to fling its reverberating thunder over the responsive house-tops than the sleeping settlement became a veritable pandemonium of noise and confusion. Like myriads of bees from an overturned hive, the startled denizens swarmed into the streets and focused their dilating eyes upon a dazzling effulgence in the skies, the crimson luster of which made it all too awfully evident that a conflagration of unprecedented fury was raging in the near vicinity.

Like a flotilla of fishing boats swept irresistibly on before a mighty rushing tidal wave, the crowd surged in a conglomerate, inextricable mass to the precise locality where the Fire Demon held malafical sway, and a wall resembling the cry of a lost soul shut out of Paradise filtered through their lips as they discerned the form of a wondrously beautiful maiden, clad in an exquisitely chaste robe de nuit, peering with the eyes of a startled fawn from one of the upper windows of the burning domicile.

"Merciful heavens, she will perish!" vociferated the crowd in cyclonic chorus. "For pity's sake, save her!" And, as if in providential answer to this clamorous appeal, the fire engine thundered like a rampant monster of the antediluvian period down the congested thoroughfare, and a tumult of cheering that seemed to cleave the heavens in twain greeted the appearance of an intrepid young fireman of Titanic proportions, who had reared an elongated ladder against the side of the burning edifice, and was bounding up with the strides of a Colossus to the rescue of the distressed damsel.

With what a dazzling luminosity did the pellucid orbs of the prepossessing young lady light up when she descended amidst the asphyxiant deliverer! And what a mighty fusillade of ecstatic shouts burst from the leather-lined lungs of the marveling multitude as the valiant fireman's axe shivered the window frame! Instantly a dense exhalation of volcanic vapor vollied forth with Vesuvian velocity, but the imperturbable fireman leaped into the red-hot furnace of flame with the invulnerability of a salamander, and when he reappeared he held in his charred and blackened arms something which, but for an occasional eel-like wriggle and a characteristically feminine anxiety concerning the symmetry of its back hair, might have been mistaken for a marble statue.

For a moment the magnificent figure of the lion-hearted rescuer poised itself, in an eye-blinking frame of fire, on the scorched window sill. Then, enfolding his fair burden in a giant-like, yet infinitely tender, embrace he made a breath-suspending dive into the yawning fire-escape, and not a second too soon for, simultaneously with his precipitous passage into safety, a sparks pyrotechnical display of garbs betokened the collapse of the roof and the Fire Demon, wearying of his saturnalian holocaust, permitted himself to be reduced to impotence by the tons of aqueous artillery which the firemen poured in on Niagara-like cataclysm upon the once passive but now woefully marred passive but now woefully marred

LICENSE REFUSED.

Theodore Peters, 1040 Broadway.
William Estes, 1027 Broadway.
Oscar Denker, 1044 Broadway.
Thomas Lindsay, 1018 South
Eighth street.

The board of councilmen met last night in adjourned session to take up saloon license, and transact business left open from Monday night. The meeting was probably one of the most strenuous in years because of the spirited fight put up by the elements.

The room was packed to its utmost capacity before the meeting was called to order, and many women were in evidence. Ministers and churchmen were out in force and equally as many of the saloon faction were in evidence. Several licenses had been referred for correction in location. These were taken up first and the following acted on:

J. T. Quarles, Illinois Central depot, granted unanimously.

J. W. Dicke, 118 South Third street, passed for an affidavit as to the ownership of the business.

Sam Starks, 120 South Second street, granted unanimously.

L. T. Clark, 1035 North Twelfth street, granted unanimously.

James Bu'ger, 1615 South Fourth street, granted unanimously.

The license of Theodore Peters near Eleventh street on Broadway, brought on a spirited debate between the Rev. Calvin Thompson, Rev. T. J. Newell, protesting against a renewal of the license, and Senator J. Wheeler Campbell for the applicant.

The Rev. Calvin Thompson spoke first. He made a strong appeal in behalf of the school children who pass the saloons during school session.

The Rev. T. J. Newell followed the same line. The speeches consumed about twenty minutes.

Senator Campbell treated the matter as a truly business affair. The point raised by the ministers was that improper remarks were made by loungers about the saloon about school girls as they passed. He stated that such remarks must not necessarily come from saloon districts but could be heard on Broadway in front of any of the soda water fountains and other public places.

The license was refused by a vote of 9 to 2, Councilmen Meyers and Oehlschlaeger voting for the license.

The application of William Estes, on the northeast corner of Eleventh street and Broadway, was next taken up. The vote resulted in a refusal of the license by a vote of 9 to 2, Councilmen Meyers and Oehlschlaeger voting for the license.

The application of Oscar Denker, 1044 Broadway was refused by a vote of 9 to 1, Councilman Oehlschlaeger voting "yea."

Rickman Victorious.

The application of J. M. Rickman, on Bridge street, was discussed by Attorney Mike Oliver, for the opposition, and J. Wheeler Campbell for Rickman. Both attorneys spoke briefly. Attorney Oliver alleged that Rickman had violated the local option law in Benton, Marshall county, recently, and stated he was prepared to prove Rickman had violated the laws in Paducah.

Senator Campbell made a short statement scoring Attorney Oliver for resorting to methods not bearing directly on the case. The license was granted. Councilmen Duval, Herzog, Kolb, Meyers, Oehlschlaeger, Van Meter voting for the license. Several women were present to protest against the license.

Other Licenses.

The application of Thomas Lindsay 1018 South Eighth street, was refused because of its being opposite the Dixie mills.

The application of Lee S. Robertson, at 119 Broadway, had been held up because intoxicated persons had been seen to enter the place on the Sabbath. It was stated that they were roomers who had to pass through his saloon in going to their rooms. The license was unanimously granted.

Those Pictures.

The application of the Paducah Distilleries company, at 103 South Second street, had been held up because of the alleged circulation of immoral advertising literature. The company was represented by Attorney E. H. Puryear who read an affidavit from a boy who had stolen several cards which were not distributed in Paducah by the company, and had given them to men. This is how the cards were circulated in Paducah. Attorney Puryear spoke briefly in the cause of his client.

The Rev. T. J. Newell spoke against the granting of the license because of the methods of advertising.

The Rev. Calvin Thompson also remonstrated against granting the license for the same reasons. The proprietor stated that the literature was not suited for his business and he had ordered it destroyed. By chance some was stolen, hence its circulation. The license was granted.

The license of Lee Hite, at 934 Husbands street, which had been held up for street number, was granted.

The license of Mitchell & Dearmond, at 1132 South Tenth street, held up for street number, was granted.

The license of H. Boyle, 134 South Fourth street, was allowed. It had been held up for street number.

The license of George H. Andrecht, 400 North Twelfth street, held up for street number, was granted.

The license of C. F. Schrader, 233 North Thirteenth street, held up for location, was granted.

The license of Nicholas & DeBoe, 901 North Ninth street, held up for street number, was granted.

The money paid in for license by unsuccessful applicants, was ordered refunded.

Regular Business.

Progress in the matter of preliminaries to the No. 2 sewerage system was reported.

The report from the milk and meat inspector, Dr. Ed Farley, Jr., was received and filed.

Several deeds and transfers to lots in Oak Grove were ratified.

A report from the street committee recommending the extension of Broad street to the Union depot for an outlet from Mechanicsburg, was referred to secure all the right of way.

The board ordered six new Canon city directories for the city.

The board ratified the action on the upper board in making a contract with Ghent & Elliott to look after the city garbage dump.

The committee was urged to proceed with the opening of Tenth street from Broadway to Kentucky avenue. This is hanging fire on account of plans of the board of park commissioners.

Chief of Police Collins stated that fourteen excursions on the river and railroad would run into Paducah on August 8th, and he asked for more officers for that day to look after the safety of the city. The matter was referred. Chief Collins wants ten extra men for twelve hours.

The matter of placing barrels of ice water on streets when excursions are run into the city on Sunday for the benefit and convenience of visitors was brought up. Chief Collins was instructed to secure barrels and be prepared to furnish ice water whenever necessary.

Pros. McBroom stated that a grocer asked him if some law could not be passed to prevent groceries from keeping open on Sunday. Several work until 12 o'clock Saturday night, and have to get up at 6 o'clock in the morning and have to remain open the greater part of the Sabbath. It was stated that no such law could be passed and no action was taken. On motion the board adjourned.

"Is he telling the truth?" Moriway asked Mrs. Kingdon.

"Yes, I guess he is; but where are the diamonds? We must have them— you know— to-day, George," she whispered. And then she turned and went upstairs, leaving Moriway to do the rest.

"There's only one thing to do, major," he said to the proprietor. "Search 'em all, and then—"

"Search me? It's an outrage!" cried the housekeeper.

"Search me, if ye like," growled McCarthy, resentfully. "O! wasn't there but a minute; the lady herself can tell ye that."

Katie, the chambermaid, flushed painfully, and there were indignant tears in her eyes, which, I'll tell you in confidence, made a girl named Nancy uncomfortable.

But the boy Nat, knowing that bell-boys have no rights, said nothing. But he thought, he thought, Tom Dorgan, a lot of things and a long way ahead.

The peppy old major marched us all off to his private office.

Not much, girls, it hadn't come. For suddenly the annunciator rang out.

Out of the corner of his eye, Nat looked at the bell-boy's bench. It was empty. There was to be a ball that night, and the bells were going it over all the place.

"Number Twenty-one!" shouted the clerk at the desk.

But Number Twenty-one didn't budge. His heart was beating like a hammer, and the ting-ling-ling of that bell calling him rang in his head like a song.

"Number Twenty-one!" yelled the clerk.

Oh, he's got a devil of a temper, has that clerk. Some day, Tom, when you love me very much, go up to the hotel and break his face for me.

"You'll—confound you, can't you hear?" he shouted.

That time he caught the major's ear—the one that wasn't deaf. He looked from Powers' black face to the bench and then to me. And all the time the bell kept ringing like mad.

"Gitt!" he said to the boy. "And come back in a hurry."

Number Twenty-one got—but leisurely. It wouldn't do for a bell-boy to hurry, particularly when he had such good cause.

Oh, girls, those stone stairs, the servants' stairs at the St. James! They're fierce. I tell you, Mag, scrubbing the floors at the Cruelty ain't so bad. But this time I was jolly glad bell-boys weren't allowed in the elevator. For there were those diamonds in my pants pocket, and I must get rid of 'em before I got down to the office again. So I climbed those stairs, and every step I took my eye was searching for a hiding-place. I could have pitched the little bag out of a window, but Nancy Olden wasn't throwing diamonds to the birds, any more than Mag here is likely to cut off the braids of red hair we used to play horse with when we drove her about the Cruelty yard.

One flight.

No chance.

Another.

Everything bare as stone and soap could keep it.

The third flight—my knees began to tremble, and not with climbing. The call came from this floor. But I ran up a fourth just on the chance, and there in a corner was a fire hatchet strapped to the wall. Behind that hatchet Mrs. Kingdon's diamonds might lie snug till evening. I put the ends of my fingers first in the little crack to make sure the little bag wouldn't drop to the floor, and then dived into my pocket and—

And there behind me, stealthily coming up the last turn of the stairs, was Mr. George Moriway!

Don't you hate a soft-walking man, Mag? That cute fellow was cuter than the old major himself, and had followed me every inch of the way.

"There's something loose with this hatchet, sir," I said, innocently looking down at him.

"Oh, there is? What an observing little fellow you are! Never mind the hatchet; just tell me what number you were sent to answer."

"Number—" I repeated, as though I couldn't see why he wanted to know.

"Why—431."

"Not much, my boy—331."

"Beise me, sir, ain't you mistaken?"

He looked at me for full a minute. I stared him straight in the eye. A nasty eye he's got—black and blood-shot and cold and full of suspicion. But it wavered a bit at the end.

"I may be," he said, slowly, "but not about the number. Just you turn around and get down to 331."

"All right, sir. Thank you very much. It might have got me in trouble. The ladies are so particular about having the bells answered quick—"

"I guess you'll get in trouble all right," he said and stood watching— from where he stood he could watch me every inch of the way—till I got to 331, at the end of the hall, Mrs. Kingdon's door.

And the goods still on me, Tom, mind that.

My, but Mrs. Kingdon was wrathful when she saw me!

"Why did they send you?" she cried.

"Why did you keep me waiting so long? I want a chambermaid. I've rung a dozen times. The whole place is crazy about that old ball to-night, and no one can get decent attention."

"Can't I do what you want, ma'am?" I just yearned to get inside that door.

"No," she snapped. "I don't want a boy to fasten my dress in the back—"

"We often do, ma'am," I said, softly.

"You do. Well—"

"Yes'm." I breathed again.

"Well—it's indecent. Go down and send me a maid."

She was just closing the door in my face—and Moriway waiting for me to watch me down again.

"Mrs. Kingdon—"

"Well, what do you want?"

"I want to tell you that when I get down to the office they'll search me."

She looked at me amazed.

"And—there's something in my pocket I—wouldn't like them to find."

"What in the world—my diamonds! You did take them, you little wretch?"

She caught hold of my coat. But Lordy! I didn't want to get away a little bit. I let her pull me in, and then I backed up against the door and shut it.

"Diamonds! Oh, no, ma'am. I hope I'm not a thief. But—but it was something you dropped—this."

I fished Moriway's letter out of my pocket and handed it to her.

The poor old lady! Being a bell-boy you know just how old ladies really are. This one at evening, after her face had been massaged for an hour, and the manicure girl and the hair-dresser had gone, wasn't so bad. But to-day, with the marks of the morning's tears on her agitated face, with the blood pounding up to her temples where the hair was thin and gray—Tom Dorgan, if I'm a vain old fool like that when I'm three times as old as I am, just tie a stone around my neck and take me down and drop me into the nearest water, won't you?

"You abominable little wretch!" she sobbed. "I suppose you've told everybody in the office."

"How could I, ma'am?"

"How could you?" She looked up, the tears on her flabby, flushed cheeks.

"I didn't know myself. I can't read writing—"

It was this, but she wanted to believe it.

She could have taken me in her arms, she was so happy.

"There! there!" she patted my shoulder and gave me a dollar bill. "I was a bit hasty, Nat. It's only a—" little business matter that Mr. Moriway's attending to for me. We—we'll finish it up this afternoon. I shouldn't—"

At that cry the old lady's knees seemed to crumble under her. Her poor old painted face looked out ghostly and ashen from her wedding finery. But Evelyn in her red coat flew to her and took her in her arms as though she was a child. And like a child, Mrs. Kingdon sobbed and made excuses and begged to be forgiven.

I looked at Moriway. It was all the pay I wanted—particularly as I had those little diamonds.

"You're just in time, Miss Kingdon," he said, uneasily, "to make your mother happy by your presence at her wedding."

"I'm just in time, Mr. Moriway, to see that my mother's not made unhappy by your presence."

"Evelyn!" Mrs. Kingdon remonstrated.

"Come, Sarah," Moriway offered his arm.

The bride shook her head.

"To-morrow," she said, feebly. Moriway breathed a swear.

Miss Kingdon laughed.

"I've come to take care of you, you silly little mother, dear. It won't be to-morrow, Mr. Moriway."

"No—not to-morrow—next week," sighed Mrs. Kingdon.

"In fact, mother's changed her mind. Mr. Moriway. She thinks it ungenerous to accept such a sacrifice from a man who might be her son—don't you, mother?"

"Well, perhaps, George—"

She looked up from her daughter's shoulder—she was crying all over that precious red coat of mine—and her eyes lit on me. "Oh—you wicked boy, you told a lie!" she gasped. "You did read my letter."

I laughed; laughed 'out loud. It was such a bully thing to watch Moriway's face.

But that was an unlucky laugh of mine; it turned his wrath on me. He made a dive toward me. I ducked and ran. Oh, how I ran. But if he hadn't slipped on the curb he'd have had me. As he fell, though, he let out a yell.

"Stop thief! Stop thief! Thief! Thief! Thief!"

May you never hear it, Mag, behind you when you've somebody else's diamonds in your pocket. It sounds—it sounds the way the bay of the hounds must sound to the hare. It seems to fly along with the air; at the same time to be behind you, at your side, even in front of you.

I heard it bellowed in a dozen different voices, and every now and then I could hear Moriway as I pelted on—that brassy, cruel bellow of his that made my heart sick.

And then all at once I heard a policeman's whistle.

actually outside the door, almost in the street and off to you, when a girl called to me.

"Here, boy, carry this case," she said.

Do you know who it was? Oh, yes, you do, a dear old friend of mine from Philadelphia, a young lady whose taste—well, all right, I'll tell you: It was the girl with the red coat and the hat with the chin-chilla fur.

How did they look? Oh, fairly well on a blonde! But to my taste the last girl I'd seen in the coat and hat was handsomer.

Well, I carried her suit-case and followed her back into the hotel. I didn't want to a bit, though that coat still—wonder how she got it back!

She sailed up the hall and into the elevator, and I had to follow. We got off at the third story, and she brought me right to the door of 331. And then I knew this must be Evelyn.

"Mrs. Kingdon's out, miss. She didn't expect you till to-morrow."

"Did she tell you that? Too bad she isn't at home! She said she'd be kept busy all day to-day with a business matter, and that I'd better not get here till to-morrow. But I—"

"Wanted to get here in time for the wedding!" I suggested, softly.

"You should have seen her jump. Wedding! Not—"

"Mrs. Kingdon and Mr. Moriway."

She turned white.

"Has that man followed her here? Quick, tell me. Has she actually married him?"

"No—not yet. It's for five o'clock at the church on the corner."

"How do you know?" She turned on me, suddenly suspicious.

"Well—I do know. And I'm the only person in the house that does."

"I don't believe you."

She took out her key and opened the door, and I followed her in with the suit-case. But before I could get it set down on the floor she had swooped on a letter that was lying in the middle of the table, had torn it open and then with a cry had come whirling toward me.

"Where is this church? Come, help me to get to it before five and I'll—oh, you shall have anything in the world you want!"

She flew out into the hall. I after her. And first thing you know we were down in the street, around the corner, and there in front of the church was a carriage with Moriway just helping Mrs. Kingdon out.

"Mother!"

At that cry the old lady's knees seemed to crumble under her. Her poor old painted face looked out ghostly and ashen from her wedding finery. But Evelyn in her red coat flew to her and took her in her arms as though she was a child. And like a child, Mrs. Kingdon sobbed and made excuses and begged to be forgiven.

100 SUITS EVERY YEAR.

King Edward's Tailors Have Orders to Make Two Suits Weekly.

King Edward's tailors have a standing order to provide him with about 100 suits a year exclusive of military uniforms and court costumes.

These suits cost between $50 and $100 each. The king selects cloth and patterns and is said to make his selections so rapidly that in ten minutes he will choose $1000 worth of clothes. When the king has selected a certain cloth the tailor uses it for no other customer. His hour for a seance with the tailor is 11 a. m., and he is said to be a marvel of punctuality. He is also a pretty lightning change artist for a mere monarch. He gets out of and into his clothes with extreme despatch.

As are most stout men, he is hard-set on his trousers. Because he will not tolerate the suggestion of a wrinkle in his aether garments, he rarely wears a pair of trousers more than three or four times. In this way he gets through quite 100 pairs in the course of a year.

He is particularly extravagant with regard to overcoats. He indulges in a great variety of head-gear, and his experiments in hats and caps from time to time have resulted in popularizing no less than seven distinct varieties.—Exchange.

Conversation in Subway.

Two men coming uptown on a subway express last night were trying to make themselves understood, despite the roar of the train. The result was something like this:

"How are your folks?" said one.

"I hope they're all well."

"Yes," said the other, "that last word expresses it exactly. It was very hot yesterday."

"The weather was very hot today, wasn't it?" continued the first man.

"Yes," said the second. "I understand that there is going to be a rise in the price of ice this summer. It's hard on the poor, ain't it?"

"Are you going away this year?" from the first man.

"Near? Yes; I live near the station where I get off. I find it convenient, too," the second man replied.

"We're thinking of going to Europe. Which is the best line to sail on, do you know?" from the first man.

"Snow? Yes, old man, it would be a joke, with the warm weather we're having, wouldn't it? Snow! Ha, ha! Good joke."

Then they transferred to a local and got off the train at Times Square. The first man said to the second:

"The subway is a great institution, John; it gets you up here in no time."

"You bet! I like it. Some persons say they have trouble conversing while the trains are in motion, but it doesn't affect me."—New York Times.

Perfectly Normal.

A journalist visited an insane asylum to get material for an article and was shown over the establishment by one of the inmates, who was so intelligent that it was almost impossible to believe he could be out of his head.

"And what are you here for, my man?" asked the journalist at length.

Immediately a cunning look came into the man's eyes and he looked about him warily.

"I'll tell you if you keep it dark," he said, lowering his voice. "I have a mania for swearing. I write 'cuss-words' all around. It's great sport. Why, they have to hire a man just to follow me round and rub 'em out. But," coming a little closer, "I'll tell you a crot. I have four 'damns' written all over your back."—July Lippincott's Magazine.

Eighty-Pound Year-Old Baby.

Staten Island has an eighty-pound baby, and is proud of it. The baby is a girl, Effie Shotwell, now 13 months old. She weighed 14 pounds when born, and 50 pounds three months later. She hasn't been sick since her birth, and she is normal in every other respect except her size.

The home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Shotwell, in Bloomfield, S. I., has many visitors now among the mothers of Staten Island.

Miss Effie's mother, who was one of fifteen children, weighs about 105 pounds; her father is not large, and all his people were of ordinary size.

The big baby's grandmother on her mother's side weighs 180 pounds, however, and she is held responsible for Miss Effie's size.—New York Times.

A Little Vague.

A Boston lady seeking summer board on a farm saw an advertisement giving a description of about such a place as she wanted, and sent a letter of inquiry. She received the following information as to terms:

"We charge five dollars a week for men, four and a half for ladies, and four dollars for children old enough to eat. All ages and sexes to pay more if difficult."—July Lippincott's.

Truth is a Stranger to Fiction.

The novelist's small but valuable son had just been brought to judgment for telling a fib. His sobs having died away, he sat for a time in silent thought.

"Pa," said he, "how long will it be before I stop gittin' licked for telling lies, an' begin to get paid for 'em, like you do?"—July Lippin-

IN GOOD CONDITION

INSPECTOR FARLEY FINDS DAIRIES AND MEAT MARKETS.

Only One Milk Man's Product Not Up to Standard and This Is Explained.

Dr. Ed P. Farley, meat and milk inspector, in his report for June shows that all the milk dealers in the city with the exception of one come up to the requirements. In the case of the one exception he does not believe the milk was watered, but that the conditions under which the test was made were responsible for the low per cent. of fats found.

Dr. Farley deals at length with the causes which make milk vary in the per cent of fats it contains. When cows are milked twice a day, the milk will be richer in fat when it is drawn after the shortest period. For instance, a cow that is milked at the end of two periods, one of which is fifteen hours long and the other nine hours long, will give richer milk in the shortest period. Then different kinds of cows give different qualities of milk.

The food eaten, time of milking and the health of the cows, are a few of the causes which may make milk vary in quality. Generally the conditions under which the milk is drawn and prepared for use are sanitary and are improving.

Dr. Farley goes over market each morning and inspects the meat. Occasionally he finds meat which must be thrown out, but here, too, conditions are good and improving. The slaughter houses of the butchers also are regularly inspected.

SIX ROUND FIGHT

PULLED OFF AT PRINCETON BY TWO COLORED BOYS.

Sports of the Town Liked It and Exhibition Will Be Repeated Next Friday.

Princeton, Ky., a sister city 45 miles east of Paducah on the Illinois Central road, is developing sporting proclivities, and not satisfied with having the best semi-professional independent baseball team in Western Kentucky, has started in for pugilism. It's first exhibition of the latter sport was given last night, and a Paducah fighter was one of the principals.

The "Alabama Kid" and the "Texas Cyclone," both colored, fought a draw in six rounds at Princeton last night. The bout was witnessed by a large crowd of sports, the city marshal being among the spectators. It was not a prize fight, but a purse was made up for the fighters and the fight will be repeated Friday night.

R. E. Young, a business man of Princeton, is backing the "Kid." The "Alabama Kid" went to Campaign, Ill., to live but returned like all other acclimated Paducahans. He could not remain away. He is in good training and likely there will be several lovers of the manly art to go to Princeton Friday to witness the bout. The "Kid" fought at 138 and his opponent at 158 pounds.

SMOKING ON DUTY

Must Stop Among Employees of Light and Power Company.

The Paducah Light and Power company has adopted a rule which will meet with general approval. "No employee of the traction company shall smoke while on duty on the cars," is the rule put into effect today. It means that conductors and motormen will have to cease the habit of cigarette smoking while on duty, and will eventually mean that this habit will be outgrown by a majority of employees. Street car companies all over the country have profited by this rule, and the company has simply taken another step toward a more perfect system.

Safe Anyhow.

The story is told in Boston of a discussion among the judges as to the choice of a stenographer. Most of them preferred a woman, but one objected.

"Now, why don't you want one?" asked Judge S. "You know they are generally more to be depended on than men."

"That may be all so," replied Judge B.; "but you know that in our cases we often have to be very late. There are always watchmen and other guards in the corridors. Do you think it would be prudent to have a woman staying with any of the judges as late as might be necessary for a stenographer?"

"Why, what are you afraid of? Couldn't you holler," questioned Judge S.—July Lippincott's.

"The race is not always to the swift."

"No," said Farmer Jinks, looking reminiscent, "but the swift is 'most always to the races."
